- B. The master keys encrypts the database key. The database key encrypts the data encryption keys.
- C. The master keys encrypts the data encryption keys. The data encryption keys encrypts the database key
- D. The master keys encrypts the cluster key. The cluster key encrypts the database key. The database key encrypts the data encryption keys.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

This is mentioned in the AWS Documentation

Amazon Redshift uses a four-tier, key-based architecture for encryption. The architecture consists of data encryption keys, a database key, a cluster key, and a master key.

Data encryption keys encrypt data blocks in the cluster. Each data block is assigned a randomly-generated AES-256 key. These keys are encrypted by using the database key for the cluster. The database key encrypts data encryption keys in the cluster. The database key is a randomly-generated AES-256 key. It is stored on disk in a separate network from the Amazon Redshift cluster and passed to the cluster across a secure channel. The cluster key encrypts the database key for the Amazon Redshift cluster.

Option B is incorrect because the master key encrypts the cluster key and not the database key Option C is incorrect because the master key encrypts the cluster key and not the data encryption keys Option D is incorrect because the master key encrypts the cluster key only For more information on how keys are used in Redshift, please visit the following URL:
