that question.
You have deployed a GS-series virtual machine (VM) in Microsoft Azure. You plan to deploy Microsoft SQL Server.
You need to deploy a 30 megabyte (MB) database that requires 100 IOPS to be guaranteed while minimizing costs.
Which storage option should you use?
A. Standard locally redundant disk storage
B. Standard geo-redundant disk storage
C. Premium P10 disk storage
D. Premium P20 disk storage
E. Standard geo-redundant blob storage
F. Premium P30 disk storage
G. Standard zone redundant blob storage
H. Standard locally redundant blob storage
Answer: C
Explanation:
Premium Storage Disks Limits
When you provision a disk against a Premium Storage account, how much input/output operations per second (IOPS) and throughput (bandwidth) it can get depends on the size of the disk. Currently, there are three types of Premium Storage disks: P10, P20, and P30. Each one has specific limits for IOPS and throughput as specified in the following table:

NEW QUESTION: 3
Which three actions can be performed in Process Spaces? Select three.
A. create a process instance space for collaboration specific to one process instance
B. discuss issues
C. share documents such as requirement documents, feedback documents, and design specs
D. define business indicators for custom dashboards
E. set up business rules for collaboration
Answer: A,B,C
Explanation:
Process Spaces is a workspace built on top of Oracle WebCenter Portal: Spaces. It enables greater collaboration by combining the content from the panels in Process Workspace with an additional workspace in which you can collaborate in the development of process models.
WebCenter Portal provides group spaces that support discrete communities of any size that are organized around an area of interest or a common goal. WebCenter Portal also provides various collaborative services enabling document sharing, discussions, wikis, lists, links, tagging, and real-time collaboration services such as presence and instant messaging.
Process Spaces provides these WebCenter Portal group spaces specifically for business process management:

A process workspace-For process participants to collaborate on relevant processes and instances based on their roles. This enables, for example, a group of sales representatives within a given region to share documents and information about various customers, the products they are buying, their requirements and history.
A process modeling space-For domain analysts to collaborate on various aspects of modeling business processes. This enables, for example, experts from various departments to jointly develop processes that reflect the needs of their various departments.
A process instance space-Created on an ad hoc basis for long-running instances, it displays specific instances that require a high level of collaboration over time.
