NEW QUESTION: 1

You have a router that has some interfaces configured with 10Gbps and 1Gbps interfaces. Which command you use to optimize higher bandwidth?

- A. auto-cost reference-bandwidth 1000
- B. auto-cost reference-bandwidth 10000
- C. auto-cost reference-bandwidth 100

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which of the following is not a source for Cisco Unified Reporting?

- A. Cisco Unified CM RTMT counters
- B. Cisco Unified CM database
- C. Cisco Unified Presence database

D. Cisco Unified CM CDR/CAR

Answer: C

Explanation:

What is Cisco Unified Reporting?

The Cisco Unified Reporting web application, which you access at the Cisco Unified Presence console, generates reports with a snapshot of cluster data. The tool enables you to gather cluster data from existing sources, inspect and compare the data, and troubleshoot any reported issues.

Cisco Unified Reporting includes a user interface for generating, downloading and archiving, and uploading the reports. Notification messages let you know if a report will take excessive time to generate or consume excessive CPU.

How the Cisco Unified Reporting Application Works

The Cisco Unified Reporting web application deploys to all servers in a cluster at installation time. Reports are generated from database records. When you generate a report in Cisco Unified Reporting, the report combines data from one or more sources on one or more servers into one output view. For example, you can view a report that shows the hosts file for all servers in the cluster.

Data Sources

The application captures information from any of the following sources on the publisher server and each subscriber server:

RTMT counters

CDR_CAR

CUP DB

disk files

OS API calls

network API calls

CLI

The report includes data for all active cluster nodes that are accessible at the time that you generate the report. If the database on the publisher server is down, you can generate a report for the active nodes.

Data Output

This release supports HTML output for reports. You can identify a report in Cisco Unified Reporting by the report name and the date-and-time stamp. The application stores a local copy of the most recent report for you to view. You can archive the local copy of the most recent report or a new report to your hard disk, as described in Downloading and Archiving Reports. When you archive a report, you can rename archived files or store them in different folders for identification purposes.

What is Cisco Unified Reporting?

Cisco Unified Reporting web application, which is accessed at the Cisco Unified CallManager console, generates reports for troubleshooting or inspecting cluster data.

This convenient tool provides a snapshot of cluster data without requiring multiple steps to get the data. The tool design facilitates gathering data from existing sources, comparing the data, and reporting irregularities.

A report combines data from one or more sources on one or more servers into one output view. For example, you can view a report that shows the hosts file for all servers in the cluster.

The application gathers information from the publisher server and each subscriber server. A report provides data for all active cluster nodes that are accessible at the time that the report is generated.

Some reports run checks to identify conditions that could impact cluster operations. Status messages indicate the outcome of every data check that is run.

Only authorized users can access the Cisco Unified Reporting application. By default, this includes administrator users in the Standard Unified CM Super Users group. As an authorized user, you can view reports, generate new reports, or download reports at the graphical user interface (GUI).

Note: Administrator users in the Standard Unified CM Super Users group can access all administrative applications in the Cisco Unified CallManager Administration navigation menu, including Cisco Unified Reporting, with a single sign on to one of the applications.

Cisco Unified Reporting includes the following capabilities:
A user interface for generating, archiving, and downloading reports

Notification message if a report will take excessive time to generate or consume excessive CPU Data Sources Reports that Cisco Unified Reporting generates may use any of the following sources:

RTMT counters

CDR_CAR

CUCM DB

disk files

OS API calls

network API calls

prefs (Windows registry)

CLI

RIS

The Report Descriptions link in the System Reports list provides the information sources that are used in a report, as described in Accessing On-Line and Report Help.
