NEW QUESTION: 4

Your network contains a System Center 2012 Configuration Manager environment. The environment contains a primary site server named Server1 and a server named Server2 that runs Microsoft SQL Server 2008 R2.

Server2 contains the Configuration Manager database.

Server2 fails.

You install SQL Server 2008 R2 on a new server. You name the server Server2.

You need to restore the Configuration Manager database to the new server.

What should you do?

- A. From Server1, run the Site Repair Wizard.
- B. From Server2, run Microsoft SQL Server Management Studio, and then attach the backed up SQL Server database and log files.
- C. From Server1, run the Configuration Manager 2012 Setup Wizard.

D. From Server2, run Microsoft SQL Server Management Studio, and then restore the backed up SQL Server database and log files.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A Configuration Manager site recovery is required whenever a Configuration Manager site fails or data loss occurs in the site database. Repairing and resynchronizing data are the core tasks of a site recovery and are required to prevent interruption of operations. Site recovery is started by running the Configuration Manager Setup Wizard from installation media or by configuring the unattended installation script.
