Answer: B,C,E

NEW QUESTION: 3

The telecommunications manager wants to improve the process for assigning company-owned mobile devices and ensuring data is properly removed when no longer needed. Additionally, the manager wants to onboard and offboard personally owned mobile devices that will be used in the BYOD initiative. Which of the following should be implemented to ensure these processes can be automated? (Select THREE).

- A. Identity attestation
- B. Presence software
- C. SIM's PIN
- D. MDM software
- E. Email profiles
- F. Remote wiping
- G. Chargeback system
- H. GPS tracking

Answer: A,D,F

Explanation:

In identity management, onboarding is the addition of a new employee to an organization's identity and access management (IAM) system. The term is also used if an employee changes roles within the organization and is granted new or expanded access privileges. Conversely, offboarding refers to the 1 AM processes surrounding the removal of an identity for an employee who has left the organization.

Mobile device management (MDM) is a type of security software used by an IT department to monitor, manage and secure employees' mobile devices that are deployed across multiple mobile service providers and across multiple mobile operating systems being used in the organization.

Remote wiping is a function of MDM software that enables an administrator to remotely wipe data from a mobile device usually be resetting the device back to its factory default settings.

Identity attestation is used to prove one's identity by using third party trusted authentication providers.

Incorrect Answers:

A: The PIN number of a SIM is not required for the automated or remote management of mobile devices.

C: IT chargeback systems are sometimes called "responsibility accounting" because this sort of accounting demonstrates which departments or individuals are responsible for significant expenses.

Such systems are intended to shift responsibility to users and encourage them to treat IT services as they would any other utility, which in turn encourages moderate use. A chargeback system is not required for the automated or remote management of mobile devices.

E: Presence is an Apple software product that is similar to Windows Remote Desktop. It gives users access to their Mac's files wherever they are. It also allows users to share files and data between a Mac, iPhone, and iPad.

F: Email profiles are email accounts or groups of email accounts in a 'profile'. A user can log in to a different profile to show different email accounts. They are not required for the automated or remote management of mobile devices.

H: GPS tracking could be used to see where a user and their mobile device are. However, the location is not required for the automated or remote management of mobile devices.
